PESSIMISTIC LAUGHHERE.

He Thinks the Principle of Perseverance Governs All Departments of Life.

It has been observed from time immemorial that a curious perversity of nature—so we have been accustomed to call it—generally provides one of two results to a precisely opposite effort of clothing. Thus a walking stick will generally attract rain and an umbrella will produce sunshine.

Indeed the principle of perversity governs every department of life. It is a sunshine to be necessary it will be rain. Documents of no importance are never mislaid. We invariably meet the people whom we are anxious to avoid and miss those we especially wish to meet. A woman generally loses her heart to the wrong man; a man generally marries the wrong woman. Every one will be able to add to these examples almost indefinitely from personal experience.

There are no accidents whatever in life. Modern science has established that every incident is governed by an inviolable law. Careful observation and the study of statistics prove beyond the possibility of doubt that clothes do very materially influence weather, a discovery which should be invaluable not only to the farmer, but to every member of the community.

Recent science, moreover, has erroneously adopted the theory of the survival of the fittest. The primal law which governs every circumstance of life is the survival of the unfittest. For instance, if a man is to inherit a fortune from a relative, the latter will survive to extreme old age. In literature and in the career of talent fails, the charlatan attains fame. In finance and in commerce the swindler makes a fortune and becomes fashionable, the honest man is driven into bankruptcy. An enemy is sure to flourish. The pattern Sunday school boy is cut off in his youth; the truant grows to manhood, marries happily and dies respected and regretted by all. The worthy youth never marries the woman he loves; she marries his utterly worthless rival.—London Truth.

IMPRESSIVE GLITTER.

The Metallic Splendor of the Diplomatic Corps on New Year's Morning.

Washington's most picturesque feature, the diplomatic corps, never gets into action until the reception at the White House on New Year's day, although the individual members will be seen out in society for a month or more before the recognized social season. At the New Year's reception, however, the diplomats come out strong, and the procession of the members of the foreign legations and embassies from the White House to the home or hotel of the secretary of state, where the diplomatic breakfast is served, is one of the gala sights of the year. Many of the population of Washington stay up all night in order to get a place on the White House square where they may see the procession pass as soon as it has been received and properly attended to by the president.

After this reception the entire organization lugs up and puts out on foot for the home of the secretary of state. As they pass from the White House grounds in their glittering raiment they are the showiest things in Washington and worth coming miles to see. The lowest attache in the crowd will give cards and spades to the most showily dressed drum major in the country and will win out with ease. They have gold lace and brilliant strings all over them, while the negroes, pianos, caplets, cords, tassels and ribbons of any one legation would stock a millinery store. Such is the effect of this aggregation of beauty and valor on the great American crowd gathered without the gates that every man in it utters at some time while the procession is passing, with contemptuous emphasis, the remark which occurs oftentimes in the narrative of the adventures of Chimie Fadden.—Indianapolis Journal.

Hardening Steel.

In hardening, bright steel should not be exposed naked to a fire or flame. It may with advantage be placed in a covered box containing thin dust or animal charcoal in some other form, or another plan is to smear with oil over the article to be hardened. Water or oil is the medium generally selected for plunging the article in from the Petroleum is recommended if extra hardness is desired. A solution of salt water will give a bright finish, but the steel is rendered brittle. Oil is the best medium for hardening, and if a temper is required, it may be obtained by heating the article in a fire or flame.

MANLY VIGOR

ONCE MORE in harmony with the world, 2000 completely cured men are singing happy praises for the greatest, grandest and most successful cure for sexual weakness and loss of vigor known to medical science. women often feel the effect of too much gaiety—balls, theatres, and teas in rapid succession find them worn out or "run-down" by the end of the season. They suffer from nervousness, sleeplessness and irregularities. The smile and good spirits take flight. It is time to accept the help offered in Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a medicine which was discovered and used by a prominent physician for many years in all cases of "female complaint" and the nervous disorders which arise from it. The "Prescription" is a powerful uterine tonic and nerve, especially adapted to woman's delicate wants for it regulates and promotes all the natural functions, builds up, invigorates and cures.

Many women suffer from nervous prostration, or exhaustion, owing to congestion or to disorder of the special functions. The waste products should be quickly got rid of, the local source of irritation relieved and the system invigorated with the "Prescription." Do not take the so-called "catary" compounds, and nervines which only put the nerves to sleep, but get a lasting cure with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

"FEMALE WEAKNESS."

Mrs. WILLIAM HOOVER, of Belleville, Richland Co., Ohio, writes: "I had been a great sufferer from 'female weakness.' I tried three doctors; they did me no good; I thought I was an invalid forever. But I heard of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and then I wrote to him and he told me just how to take it. I took eight bottles. I now feel entirely well. Mrs. Hoover. I could stand on my feet only a short time, and now I do all my work for my family of five."

The Government of the Transvaal, or South African Republic, ordered the Rand men, or miners to disarm. Only 2,000 of the 30,000 in Johannesburg and the mines have obeyed the order. This has caused the armed Boers who are in the field much uneasiness, and the leaders have the utmost difficulty in restraining their men. A proclamation was issued calling upon all the Rand men to disarm before 6 o'clock this evening under penalty of prosecution. Those complying will be pardoned unless they took an active part in the revolt.

The Boers, who are numerically inferior to the foreigners in the Republic, are good fighters. They feel that they have the support of Germany, and perhaps of France and Russia, in resisting the encroachments of the British South African Company on their territory. If the foreigners in the mines should, however, revolt they could overthrow the Government in a day and make their own laws. Prior to the discovery of the Witwatersrand mines the population of the Transvaal was about 300,000, of whom about 35,000 were Boers. Now there are more white foreigners in Johannesburg alone than there are Boers in the whole territory, and the supremacy of the latter can only be maintained by foreign aid or the sufferance of the white foreigners.

The European correspondent of the New York Sun telegraphs that it rests with the Kaiser Wilhelm whether there shall be peace or war. It is assumed that he notified the British Government of his intention to recognize the independence of the Transvaal Republic. What Great Britain's reply has been is not known, but it is known that she is preparing for war with all the resources at her command. If Germany lands troops at Delagoa Bay or sends a resident Minister to Pretoria, England will declare war, and the Kaiser will have to abandon his purpose or fight.

THE BURDEN OF STATEHOOD

In his inaugural address Governor Wells of Utah deals with most of the matters calling for legislation to make the provisions of the constitution operative. He shows that the bonded indebtedness of the State is $530,000 and the floating indebtedness $108,000. To meet the increased expenses incidental to Statehood he recommends an issue of four per cent bonds. He recommends liberal appropriations for the State University and other educational institutions; the appointment of a board of arbitration to settle labor disputes; the preservation of forests; the prevention of discrimination in transportation charges; legislation to further irrigation; the abolition of the fee system; and liberal appropriation for the maintenance of the State militia.

While Utah was a Territory the expenses of the executive, judicial and legislative departments of the government were paid by the General Government. The Penitentiary was also supported by appropriations from the National Treasury. Now the State has to bear the whole burden, and taxes have to be increased to meet the expenses. The constitution limits the indebtedness that can be incurred for the support of the State to $200,000, and as it has to assume the Territorial debt of $600,000, the Governor is not in favor of building a State capitol at this time.

SENATOR JONES AND THE TARIFF BILL.

Senator Jones of Nevada has studied the tariff question as he has the silver question, and he is an authority on both subjects. He believes in letting coal, lumber and commodities of that character free, as we should protect our forests and coal mines. He favors a tariff on wool, sugar and articles of that character that we produce without exhausting the source of supply. He proposes an amendment to the Dingley tariff bill recently passed by the House and as a member of the Senate Finance Committee, to which the bill was referred, he insisted on putting a tariff on sugar. He argues that the people of the Pacific Coast are largely in the beet sugar industry and any tariff bill passed should provide for the protection of this interest. The Republican members of the Committee would not agree to this and Senator Jones refused to act with them. If the Republican caucus does not modify its instructions to the Committee the bill may be reported adversely if it be reported at all.

Senator Jones is right. There is not an argument advanced in favor of a tariff on wool that does not apply with equal force to sugar. We do not produce enough of either to supply the home demand, and to put a moderate tariff on both would help producers and the Treasury.

SENATOR STEWART FOR WAR.

The Silver Knight favors war if that is the only means of relief from financial slavery which Cleveland and Rothschild are fastening on the people of the United States. We do not believe Mr. Rothschild will permit any war between the United States and Great Britain. It would absolutely be too good to be true. In case of war, England would likely gain the advantage at first, but we would stay with them until every foot of North America would be ours, until every dollar we owe the internal country was confiscated, until the reign of the Rothschilds and the cuckoo traitors in this country would cease.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Doings of the Senate and the House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, January 10.—Pritchard (Rep.) of North Carolina, called up in the Senate to-day the amendment he offered to the Revenue bill, to increase duties on certain kinds of clays, marble, iron ore, timber, live stock, cereals, fruits, wool and coal. He favored the re-enactment of the McKinley law and the free coinage of silver. He denounced the Southern Democrats for their recreancy of their own section.

When Pritchard finished, Hill of New York chided him for the inconsistency in his State. "North Carolina," he said, "occupied a peculiar position in Congress and he did not see how the people could be gratified. Some time ago the Legislature of North Carolina elected two Senators by the same combination. A few days ago one of them (Butler) denounced the Democratic party for being false to its pledges of tariff reform. To-day the other end of the combination told the Senators that he favored the re-enactment of the McKinley law."

White of California made a speech in favor of some practical modifications of the Senate rules.

Morgan introduced a resolution congratulating the Republic of Transvaal for the stand for liberty which it has taken, and directing the President of the United States to transmit the action to the Republic of Transvaal.

Jones of Arkansas made a speech on the free coinage substitute for the House bill.

The Morgan resolution was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations. The Senate adjourned until Monday.

In the House the Committee on Rules reported, and the rules were debated section by section.

The House refused to adopt an amendment to the rules providing for the deduction from members pay for absences not due to sickness.

When the rule giving certain committees leave to report to the House at any time was reached it created a decided breeze.

Walker, Chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, asked why that committee was omitted from the list, and offered an amendment to include his committee.

Bailey offered an amendment to Walker's amendment, including the Committee on Coinage. After a somewhat animated debate, in which Walker accused Dalgell of having taken his committee to the door and kicking it out. Bailey's amendment was defeated by 111 to 183. Walker's amendment was then defeated by a vote of 112 to 160.

GOVERNOR JONES SLIGHTLY IMPROVED.

But Grave Fears are Entertained of His Recovery.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 10, 11 p. m.—Governor Jones is reported a little better to-night. He was so far improved during the day that he was able to rise from his bed and get out for a short time in the sun. The change, however, is not considered by his physicians of a permanent nature, and grave fears are entertained of his recovery.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

The Cubans have captured a garrison within 12 miles of Havana.

About $1,250,000 in gold is to be shipped from New York to Europe to-day.

Eight masked men entered the Farmers' Bank at Monett, Missouri, blew open the safe with dynamite, took $9,000 in cash and escaped.

Isaac Wilson, a member of the Kentucky Legislature and a Democrat, is dying. His death will give the Republicans one majority on joint ballot.

London dispatches say the movement in favor of submitting the Venezuelan question to arbitration is gaining ground. The British are, however, strengthening their position in Venezuela. The British forces are advancing toward the boundary.

Judge Thoutt of the Superior Court, San Francisco, has decided that Madison Babcock is entitled to the office of Superintendent of Schools. He was appointed by the Board of School Directors, and C. S. Young, who is now defeated, was appointed by the Board of Supervisors.

The Illinois Central Passenger train ran into an open switch at Mud Lake, near Springfield, Illinois. The engine and baggage car upset, but Engineer Shell remained at his post and reversed the engine, saving the lives of the passengers. The engineer and fireman were badly injured.

The Transvaal situation is said to be more complicated by the rumored purchase of Delagoa bay by the British. It was owned by the Portuguese. All is quiet at Johannesburg, and the Union leaders are giving up their arms. Colonel Rhodes, a brother of Cecil Rhodes, and two members of the Reform Committee have been arrested on a charge of high treason.

Several Senators in debate accused the Administration of having entered into an agreement with the gold syndicate to float the expected bond issue. This has aroused President Cleveland, and he has written an indignant denial to Senator Caffery. The President says that not a banker or financier, or any human being, has been invited to Washington to arrange for the floating of any bonds, and says: "I am amazed at the intolerance that leads even excited partisanship to adopt as the basis of an attack the unfounded accusations and assertions of maliciously concocted news."

Tellurium.

A mining paper states, as a practical fact worth knowing, that any miner or prospector who has a blowpipe, alcohol lamp and a few drops of cold sulphuric acid can in a few minutes determine whether tellurium is present in ores, all that is necessary being to break off a small piece of the ore, place it in a porcelain dish previously warmed so as to avoid breaking, apply the blowpipe until the ore is at an oxidizing heat, then put one or two drops of the sulphuric acid on the porcelain dish and allow to mix with the ore—the reaction will immediately follow, if tellurium be present, by beautiful carmine and purple colors. The metal fuses at about 500 degrees C., and is distilled at a very high temperature. Its vapor is golden yellow and has a very brilliant absorption spectrum, while the electrical conductivity, like that of selenium, is largely influenced by the temperature previous to heat, increasing after exposure to light, though not to the same extent as does selenium. Tellurium burns, when heated in the air, with a blue flame, evolving white vapor of tellurium dioxide. It is insoluble in water and carbon disulphide, but dissolves in cold fuming sulphuric acid, imparting to the solution a most pleasing carmine color which almost immediately passes into a purple. The compact form is a silver white, resplendent metal of markedly crystalline structure.

"Dry Geyers" of Yellowstone Park.

There are several holes in the Yellowstone park region which are locally reputed to be "bottomless." Geological authorities say that they are "dry geyers." Into one of them, known as "Hell's Back Door," 10,000 feet of line, with weight attached, has been lowered, without striking bottom.—St. Louis Republic.

The Difference Between Two Poets.

Claudius, on being asked what was the difference between him and Klopstock, replied, "Klopstock says, 'Thou who art my inferior and yet my equal, approach hither, and, sloping to the ground, relieve me of the burden of these dust begrimed nether integuments;' whereas I simply say, 'Johann, come and pull off my boots.'"—Chronik der Zeit.

The Roll Call.

Bellorini has been appointed inspector of an educational establishment. Entering upon his functions, he addressed the pupils as follows: "Attention, young gentlemen. I will now call over the names, but as the old method takes too long I will simplify it thus: All those who no about raise their hands."—Motto per Ridea.

Mrs. Grinnell Credits Her Vigorous Old Age to Paine's Celery Compound.

It is an uncommon thing to learn of persons reaching the age of Mrs. Emyle Hyde Grinnell, and years of good health such as hers come only to those who make use of the very best means of keeping well.

No one will wonder that the bright-eyed old lady, whose mind to-day is as alert and clear as ever, should be anxious for others to try Paine's Celery Compound.

Mrs. Emyle Hyde Grinnell was born in Bennington, Vt., July 6, 1796, and is to-day living with her granddaughter, the wife of Martin Fowler of Colchester, Vt., a beautiful town near Fort Ethan Allen. Her father was a farmer and hotel keeper, and she lived upon the farm until her marriage. Mrs. Grinnell has none of the infirmities of old age. She rises at daylight, works about the house, and when the weather will permit walks out doors. Her eyesight is so good that she threads a needle and spends many hours crocheting and doing fancy work. She keeps abreast of the times and is remarkably well informed on many subjects. She declares that she does not feel any older than she has done for years, and if people half her age enjoyed such good health as she, they would consider themselves fortunate. She has seven children, four boys and three girls, two of whom are living to-day.

Mrs. Grinnell writes: COLCHESTER, Vt., Oct. 11, 1895. "Paine's Celery Compound has been my health preserver during the last few years. Whenever I have an ache or pain a few doses of this medicine gives me relief and strength. Few women, even though much younger than I, enjoy as good health, for my appetite is natural, my sleep refreshing, and I can walk quite a distance without feeling tired. People are surprised at my vigorous appearance and activity, which I believe, is the result of my using Paine's Celery Compound. It has cured me of constipation, and is of great help to me when over-tired.

Gratefully yours,

Mrs. EMYLE HYDE GRINNELL.

Paine's Celery Compound is especially valuable for recruiting the strength and spent energies of men and women advanced in years. It is the one preparation considered worthy the name of a true nerve food, and blood remedy, by physicians throughout the country. It is prescribed by them in every State in the Union to tone up the system, regulate the nerves and restore health and strength.

Nothing in the past has ever approached it in power of building up weakened nerve tissues and giving strength to the tired body. In severe cases of persistent headaches, dyspepsia, neuralgia and sleeplessness, due to nervous feebleness, Paine's celery compound has a record of rapid and lasting cures that embraces every city and town in the wide sweep of the United States. Its remarkable power over disease lies in its active replacing of worn-out parts by new, healthy ones, and in its healing and purifying action among the most minute tissues of the body. It searches out the weak parts at once, and sets to work to build them up. The tired body feels the strengthening effects of Paine's celery compound forthwith.

Give the nerves a chance to recover, and the entire body will regain its health and strength. Take Paine's celery compound.
